

What Will Our Kids Learn?

- Infinite number of possibilities when choosing what you'd like your kids to learn.
- What's important to you? What's your philosophy?
- Will your co-op be child interest-led with adults offering support?
- Will your co-op be subject based?
- Will it be school-like, directed towards tertiary studies?
- Will you use a curriculum that aligns with your parenting philosophy?
- If you'll be using a curriculum, there are thousands to choose from so do your research first before choosing. If, however, it doesn't work out, you can always change and choose something different.
- You can change as much as you like to meet the needs of your families.
- You can utilise the knowledge and skills of your parents.
- You can make the learning as school- or un-school-like as you like.
- Whatever your choice of things/ways to learn, your children can feel as though they are with their friends / family / community, making the learning experience infinitely more enjoyable and interesting.
